ZEPPELINS DROP 90 BOMBS ON LONDON; FOUR KILLED, FEW HURT, MUCH DAMAGE

Fire Department Kept Busy
Quenching Blazes Caused by Bombs.

LITTLE DETAILS ARE KNOWN

Fighting Continues Along the River
San. Though Messing News Is Received
From All Fronts; Italians
Slowly Push Austrian Forces Back.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 1.—Thirty bombs were dropped in the raid on London last night by Zeppelins. Four persons were killed and a few injured. No public buildings were damaged. The statement of the authorities follows: "An amplification of the information which appeared in this morning's papers, the following particulars of last night's Zeppelin raid in the metropolis are now available for publication. Late last night about 90 bombs, mostly of incendiary character, were dropped from hostile aircraft in various localities not far from each other. A number of fires, which only a few were large enough to require the services of fire engines, broke out. All of them were promptly and effectively dealt with and only one of them necessitated a district call. "The fires all were caused by the incendiary bombs. No public buildings were injured, but a number of private premises were damaged. The number of casualties is small, so far as at present has been ascertained. "One boy, one infant, one man and one woman were killed and another woman was so seriously injured that her life was despaired of, but the precise number has not been ascertained. Adequate police arrangements including the calling out of the fire engines enabled the situation to be kept in hand at all times. "So far as the public has been allowed to know a general list prevails on the different fronts. It is apparent, nevertheless, that fighting is proceeding along the river San in the vicinity of Trossen. This is the extent of the information given out by Vienna which contains itself with the bare mention of the facts but says nothing either in confirmation or denial of the report of Russian success at this point. "An official announcement from Nish, Serbia, indicates the resumption of hostilities against Austria-Hungary which had been suspended during the Austro-Serbian negotiations. "The near east apparently again is in a ferment with a Bulgar-Rumanian entente reported as affecting the progress of the negotiations. Constantinople is said to be excited over the recent Turkish submarine raid and the dismantling of the cruiser Sultan Selim formerly the German. "According to a dispatch received from Athens, there is a party in the Turkish capital which is demanding the opening of the straits and immediate peace overtures.

ITALIANS CONTINUE ADVANCE AGAINST AUSTRIANS.
ROME, June 1.—The following official statement of the operations of the Italian military forces was issued tonight by General Corchia chief of the general staff. "The advance of our troops beyond the frontier of Tyrol, Trentino, continues, and we have occupied the important heights of Zugna, about four miles north of the frontier. Upon this height the Austrians came time ago ordered a fort built. Our vigorous artillery action on the plateau being followed up, the Austrians were driven off the heights and our troops entered in triumph and our infantry solidly established itself on the field. "Our front, advancing in Valbagana, has arrived within the range of the mountain of Belvedere is also in our hands. A battalion and a half of Austrians with machine guns attacked our Alpine troops in a difficult fight on the crest of the mountain May 29. The Alpine troops repulsed five attacks delivered one after the other, after which they took the offensive in a violent rain and thick fog, putting the assailants to flight. Our losses were light.

FOUR BOMBERS WERE DAMAGED.
PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., June 1.—An attempt to put out of commission the big guns at Port Worden and Port Fisher, was made several days ago, it became known today and as a result all visitors have been barred from the forts in this district. It is reported that breach blocks of four guns were removed and the loading mechanism damaged. The discovery followed a report that Port Worden had been photographed in detail by persons who had surreptitiously entered the grounds. "Up to the time of these discoveries automobiles with sightseers were permitted to visit the elevation where the batteries are located but the operators have been issued forbidding any person to visit the batteries without a permit.

DARDANELLES ENGAGEMENTS END IN ALIEN'S FAVOR.
PARIS, June 1.—There was given out in Paris this afternoon the following official report on the operations in the Dardanelles: "The fighting has revolved itself for several days past to engagements over a limited area. These have taken

VETERAN SUFFERS STROKE DURING MEMORIAL PROGRAM

Jonathan Huron, a survivor of Company B, the regiment Mount Pleasant sent to the Civil War, suffered a stroke while participating in the Memorial Day exercises at that town yesterday. He was attended by Dr. F. L. Marsh, another veteran, and later removed to the Memorial Hospital. A Mrs. Ritter, standing near the grave of a relative at Mount Pleasant, but was revived and taken to her home.

EXCURSIONISTS, DELAYED ON RAILROADS, HAVE TO WALK

Overturned Engine Delays B. & O. Trains and Western Maryland. Blocked by Landslide.

Excursionists to Killbuck Park, Ohio, and other places east of Connelville, who missed the excursion trains back last evening, had trials and tribulations before they finally reached home, after waiting a good part of the way.

When news reached Indian Creek that due to an overturned engine at Williams, No. 49 due here at 6:30, would be several hours late, a party of about 50 picknickers were ferried across the river to the Western Maryland railroad to catch the train due in Connelville at 7 o'clock. Their troubles apparently were over when they were safely encoached among the coaches of the train, but when they reached Blue Stone, the train was held up by a slide near the plant of the Friend Sand Company. There was no getting past that mass of rock and earth, so most of the hurried travelers decided to walk. Hiking down the tracks for a mile or so, they crossed the swinging bridge at the pumping station and wended their way to the end of the South Connelville trolley line. After meeting with a mishap on both railroads, the party finally expected that the trolley would complete the rest of the journey in safety, but it did not.

No. 49 did not arrive in Connelville until 10:30 P. M. No. 50 arrived at 6:30 P. M. The Western Maryland slide was not cleared away until early this morning and the train did not pass through Connelville until about 2 o'clock this morning.

No one was hurt when the Baltimore & Ohio engine overturned, but it caused a complete block of traffic.

On the western slope of the ruins of Keroves Dera, detachments of volunteers belonging to a colonial regiment, captured by assault on Friday evening, and which the enemy had built at the left end of his line and which dominated our trenches. Our men went forward with such speed that the defenders, taken by surprise, fled without any resistance. Two counter attacks by the Turks were repulsed by us and the enemy suffered heavy losses. The British also won a brilliant success and repulsed an assault near Gabes Town.

Wilson Will Not Disclose His Reasons to Germany.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Wilson told callers today he did not feel it would be wise to discuss Germany's reply to the American note until after he had consulted his cabinet and studied further the questions involved.

The President said the American position however would not be made public until the German ambassador at his own request will see the President. In well-informed quarters, however, it is said he is not in doubt as to his government because of difficulty of communication. The President, it is understood, has been impressed with the practically unanimous verdict of American officials that the German answer is not really an answer but an evasion of the greater issues of law and humanity. His close advisers say he regards it as a trick and a reflection of the opinion of the country. While the President would give no intimation of his course, many of those familiar with his previous course declared his intention would be brief and would demand an early reply. Failure to meet the American representations would, it was freely predicted, result in the severance of diplomatic relations. The president's course has been great in many quarters since the sinking of the Lusitania. Diplomatic non-intercourse, however, was not necessarily followed, it was pointed out today, by any step unless American rights were again flagrantly violated.

ITALIAN TROOPS OCCUPY
37 VILLAGES NEAR CORTINA.
CORTINA, Italy, June 1.—Italian troops have occupied 37 villages surrounding Cortina in the Ampezzo valley. The troops which occupy these towns constitute the Italian army which is invading the province of Trent. The east simultaneously with invasions from the south and west. The town of Cortina, occupation of which by the Italians was announced yesterday, lies 50 miles northwest of Trent.

The municipal authorities of Cortina today sent a telegram to King Emanuel expressing their loyalty and recalling his visit there when he was crown prince.

TURKS SAY ALLIES
ARE ALL UNSUCCESSFUL.
CONSTANTINOPLE, June 1.—An official statement given out today read: "The enemy on Monday attacked our right wing near Ayburn, but they were repulsed. Their losses are estimated at 100 killed and more dead were seen in the valley. "Monday night the enemy attempted to recapture the trenches lost the previous day in their center by surprise attacks. They were repulsed everywhere and lost many in killed. We also took arms and ammunition. On the front of Seddul Bahr there have been exchanges of fire and artillery fire."

FRENCH AVENUE INSULT.
DESTROY GERMAN CONSULATE.
PARIS, June 1.—The German consul at Haifa, Syria on the day of Acre, having incited Turkish troops to commit acts hostile to the French, a French cruiser sailed up to Haifa and by a few well directed shells destroyed the consulate. This information is found in an announcement given out today by the French Ministry of Marine which reads: "The ministry of marine having been advised that the German consul at Haifa had incited Turkish troops to open fire on a boat carrying a flag of truce and to violate the burial places of a number of soldiers of the army of Napoleon, scuttling at the same time the remains of a French admiral, he ordered there, sent a cruiser which destroyed the consulate.

JUDGE REPERT IS SWORN IN; COURT MAKES DECISIONS

Injunction to Prevent Construction of Gasoline Tank Refused.

HOLDS IT WOULD BE SAFE

If Properly Erected Such Tank Would Not Constitute a Nuisance, Judge Van Swearingen Declares; Opinion Are Handed Down in Other Cases.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, June 1.—Judge E. H. Reppert, at the opening of the morning took his place on the common pleas bench at Fayette County in accordance with his appointment by Governor Brumbaugh two weeks ago. A large number of the members of the bar filed the chairs within the bar of the court room, and he was congratulated on all sides.

Judge Reppert took his oath of office this morning before Attorney Harry H. Reppert, who is a notary public. The oath of office was filed in the prothonotary's office before the opening of court, and when court was opened, Deputy Prothonotary Robert Wright read the commission of the new judge. Judge Reppert immediately began his duties, and will preside over one of the courts next week at the opening of the June term of quarter sessions court.

Judge Van Swearingen today handed down a decree refusing the injunction in the case of M. H. Thomas, a Connelville, Pa., farmer, who is suing against Dr. J. T. Jacobs, M. H. Thomas secured a preliminary injunction to restrain Dr. Jacobs from erecting and maintaining a gasoline tank with a capacity of 10,000 gallons, on property of Dr. Jacobs, near the store of M. H. Thomas on the National Pike.

M. H. Thomas declared that the gasoline tank would be a nuisance to his buildings, stating that the proposed tank would be near the railroad and sparks from trains were liable to ignite it and cause destruction to his property. In the opinion handed down Judge Van Swearingen discussed at some length the composition and qualities of gasoline.

A rule taken by David Meyer upon Luke H. Frusher, guardian of Howell M. McCormick, to show cause why he should not pay her $125 for board and maintenance furnished McCormick's wife and two children was discharged. The board was furnished without consent of the guardian, and the guardian was not to be held liable for the maintenance of the children.

Judgment of a Justice of the peace was reversed in the appeal of James Laskey, a local hotelier, in the action brought against him by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry in an attempt. Laskey was accused of violating the law by employing a boy under 16 years of age without procuring and keeping on file the required employment certificate. At the instance of William G. Wilson, a special deputy factory inspector, a suit in assumpsit was brought against Laskey for the collection of $10, the minimum penalty imposed by law for violation of the act.

The rule taken by the Railroad Employees Corporation, now in the hands of W. H. Scott, receiver, on the McCaskey Transfer Company to show cause why it was not to be held liable for the death of a passenger who was killed by a train of the corporation that no affidavit of the value of the goods received had been made or filed before the writ was issued.

Judgment for the defendant notwithstanding the verdict of the jury on the case of Hungarian Consul Louis Vucsek, administrator of the estate of Demeter Pecunia, alias Bimer Buchak, died, against Pearl Buchak, his wife, was reversed by the court. On March 18, 1912, Bimer Buchak took out a life insurance policy for $430. Buchak died December 5, 1912, having signed before his death a paper authorizing the insurance company to pay the premium to Pearl Buchak, his wife. The insurance company admitted the claim, but alleged that it had been notified by Buchak's doctor, against Pearl Buchak, that the money was due and payable to him as administrator. An issue was framed in court, with Consul Vucsek as the plaintiff and the wife of the defendant to determine.

Attended Sister's Funeral.
Mrs. J. A. McCosson has returned from Baltimore where she attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Grimes, who was buried on Saturday.

Typist and Christmas.
The Typist and Christmas ball teams will play this evening at 5:30 o'clock at Fayette Field.

No Police Court.
There was no police court at city hall this morning, no arrests having been made yesterday.

MURDER AT MOUNT STERLING

Man Who Interrupts a Card Game Is Severely Beaten Last Night.

In a fight last night at Mount Sterling, near Masontown, "Red" Ziegler, who was badly beaten over the head that he did not return to the fight, was severely injured. County Detective John Smith arrested John Cravich on a charge of being implicated in the murder and two other men suspected of having had a hand in it.

It is said that on their way back from Masontown after attending a show a number of men stopped at a house No. 115 and entered into a social gathering. Ziegler is alleged to have knocked at the door and opened a conversation with the men who opened the door, he was assaulted by three men, who threw him over a banister of the porch.

The injured man died at 8:30 o'clock. County officials are looking for the other two men who were implicated in the assault.

PLAN SCHOOL PICNIC
Shady Grove to Have First Big Outing of Year Next Tuesday.

Arrangements were completed today for the first big outing of the Shady Grove Park next Tuesday. As usual Manager Hobbs Coyle of the park will provide free transportation for the students and there will be no charge for roller coaster and merry-go-round rides.

Uniontown's school picnic will be held on Wednesday and these two will be the first large outings of the season. The park season formally opened yesterday with a big crowd.

For the enjoyment of dancers who do not do the ball walk, the fox trot and other new fangled dances, Tuesday night will be known as "old fashioned" nights, when only the waltz, two-step and schottische will be danced.

GAS TANK EXPLODES.
Foreign Laborer Blown Across Street by Its Force.

While carrying a tank of gas used in welding, a foreigner employed by the West Penn allowed it to drop, causing an explosion which knocked him across the street about a block from the intersection of Eighth street and Lehigh street, where he was killed.

So far as could be learned the man was not seriously hurt. He was conscious when medical aid was summoned.

LIABILITIES HOSPITAL.
Biddle Hornbeck Recovering After an Operation.

Biddle Hornbeck of Pittsburgh has been discharged from a Pittsburgh hospital where he underwent a successful operation.

Mrs. Hornbeck is chief clerk to Industrial Revenue Collector C. G. Leavelle at Pittsburgh and is well known in this city, having for a number of years resided at Dickerson Run.

JUDGE E. H. REPERT

who was entitled to the fund.

The court holds in this case that the paper signed by Elmer Buchak to pay the insurance to Pearl Buchak was not a part of the agreement between Buchak and the insurance company. Pearl Buchak was not named as a beneficiary in the policy, and no rule of the company permitting the insured to substitute one beneficiary for another was shown. The court decided that the paper was "of no force or validity whatever as founding a liability upon the company." The only person to whom the payment of the insurance can now be made is to Consul Vucsek.

An announcement was made by Judge Reppert of the restoration of Miss Elizabeth Leonard as court stenographer. E. T. Chamberlain, of Uniontown, was appointed to the place.

A hearing in the application for a guardianship of Miss Sarah Sinclair, aged 70, of near Pittsburg, was conducted by Judge Van Swearingen. Physicians testified that she is suffering from senile dementia and the court decided that it was a proper case for the appointment of a guardian but deferred the appointment. Miss Sinclair is the owner of considerable property.

In the hearing of John Ellenberger of Connelville, this morning, on a charge of non-support and desertion made by his wife, Ellenberger was sentenced by court to pay $2 a week for the support of his three children, aged 11, 10 and 7 years. Mrs. Ellenberger testified that they had been married six years and her husband deserted her three and a half years ago.

WOMAN SUES FOR $5,000
Josephine Samanin Declares Her Husband Failed to Appear on Wedding Day.

UNIONTOWN, June 1.—Alleging that she had been "left at the church" on her wedding day, Josephine Samanin today filed a suit against her husband, Josephine Samanin, for $5,000 damages. She alleges that her husband failed to appear on the wedding day, June 10, 1914, and that she was left at the church at 11 o'clock.

The Everson woman alleges that on January 8, 1914, Rogorowsky agreed to marry her, and that the wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Heide in the Polish Church at Everson. The banns were published in the church on May 17, 24 and 31, she declared in her statement, and a marriage license was secured by the couple in Uniontown some time during the month of May a year ago.

It is alleged that the man failed to appear at the church for the wedding. Josephine Samanin also alleges that on January 14, 1914, under promise of marriage, she was seduced by Rogorowsky.

TO IMPROVE CEMETERIES.
Roads in Chestnut Hill and St. Joseph's to be Repaired.

Good roads day will be observed Thursday in Chestnut Hill and St. Joseph's cemeteries. Although both cemeteries are in better condition than they have been for years, there are still a number of improvements needed.

Mrs. W. H. Robinson, Mrs. C. G. Herwick and Miss Phoebe Dunn compose a committee, interested in the work at Chestnut Hill cemetery while Mrs. Amelia Madigan and Mrs. Rose Sawyer have been named a committee to assist in the improvements at St. Joseph's cemetery. All persons interested are requested to turn out on Thursday and lend their assistance in the improvement work.

Orders 15 Engines.
The Western Maryland has ordered 15 heavy Mallet engines from the Lima Locomotive Corporation, to be delivered within 60 days.

SONG FESTIVAL IS A GREAT SUCCESS; CLASS PLAY NEXT

Little Folks Score a Hit in Quaint Songs and Dances.

IMMENSE CROWD IS ON HAND

Automobiles Line Fairview Avenue
While Exercises Are in Progress;
Students Are All Ready for "The Lottery Man." Seat Sale Is Large.

The little folks had their part in the commencement week festivities last night and they did it well, the second annual song festival proving a decided success. Of course, they were not all little folks, the high school chorus contributing to the program, but most of the participants were from grades 1, 2 and 3.

The grade students went through their quaint folk dances and songs and sang their little songs in a manner that showed careful training. And apparently they got as much enjoyment out of it as the others in the throng along the high school lawn. That these "play-lessons" are keenly enjoyed by the pupils was evident. The teachers of the schools who participated and the ward principals assisted Miss Mary Jane Styker, director of music, in caring for the children. Kiefer's Orchestra played for some of the numbers.

An entire class of parents and friends of the pupils attended. The lawn, however, is so situated that only those who were fortunate to secure elevated places or on the lawn, the performers could see all of what went on. A line of nearly a score of automobiles was parked on Fairview avenue during the festival.

The song festival, "The Lottery Man," will be presented tonight at the Colonial Theatre to what will perhaps be the largest house of the season. The advance sale up to this morning showed only a small number of seats left in the theatre, outside of the second balcony. Standing room will be at a premium. It is said, Prof. Seweright's predictions have been so good in the past that the class play hardly needs more than a mere announcement to insure a big house.

The cast follows:
Mrs. Wright, Jack's mother.....Anna Seena
Miss Kathryn Kurtz
Foshall Peyton, Jack's chum.....William O'Connor
Jack Wright.....George Sherrick
Stevens, Mrs. Peyton's chauffeur.....Leroy Berley
Mrs. Winters, Mrs. Peyton's sister.....Irene Hopkins
Elizabeth Roberts, Mrs. Peyton's companion.....Alice McKivitt
Helen Heyer, Mrs. Peyton's niece.....Alice McKivitt
Bridget, Mrs. Peyton's maid.....Lucy Rittner
Hamilton.....Joseph Dixon
The following will participate in a Greek drill:
Bettie Photo, Catherine Gans, Edna Conway, Irene Part, Ruth Long, Irene Hendrix, Alice McKivitt, William Seena, Odile Evans, Edith Kueper, Bessie Sullivan, Helen Ray Sherrick.

In a play which will follow the following will appear:
Martin Hecker, Bridget Gallagher, Mary Silver, Milton Hicks, Viletta St. John, Mrs. Winters, Bertha Shaw, Sarah Anderson, Frances Price, Lucy Bithner, Anna Seena, Daniel Mink, Emerson Stillwagner, Paul Brinkman, Charles Lewis, Russell Engleke, Ralph Collins, Joseph Menefee, Cataldo Corrado, Joseph Dixon, James Sembover, Stunt.

TIME AND PLACE.
Act 1.—March 10th, 11 o'clock P. M. basement dining room at M. Wright's.
Act 2.—June morning. Foshall Peyton on deck, which his mother is using for a garden.
Act 3.—Three days later. Evening. The living room at Mrs. Peyton's.

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 1.—Today the grade examinations will begin and school will close on Friday. On next Sunday evening the baccalaureate sermon will be preached in the Baptist Church by Rev. Lewis E. Yake when other pastors of the town will assist. On Monday night will be the contest between the Philo and Euclid Literary Societies and at this time the school board assumes no responsibility of the affair other than telling the boys and girls it may be conducted. The students, to defray expenses, make a charge of ten cents on this ticket. On Tuesday evening follows the class play, each senior is given a number of tickets to take care of and to defray the expenses this evening a charge of ten cents is made. On Wednesday evening the commencement exercises are held.

OFFICIALS ON TRIP.
Consolidation Coal Company Officers on Way to Baltimore.

A special Baltimore & Ohio train of five coaches carrying officials of the Consolidation Coal Company, and a number of prominent financiers, passed through here Monday night about 10 o'clock from Jonestown to Baltimore. The trip was made to look over the property of the company in Somerset county and the Fairmont fields.

Woman's Arm Broken.
Mrs. Mary Porter was admitted to the Cottage State Hospital this morning about 2 o'clock for treatment of a fractured arm and a slight scalp wound. She was found along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks by an officer and gave different accounts as to how she met with the injury.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Betty Thomas who with her mother, Mrs. D. C. Thomas of Pittsburgh, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Eaton, will serve as flower girl at the wedding of Miss Emma Clyde of Pittsburgh and Edwin Hodge of Hopkinsville, Ky., to be solemnized Thursday evening, June 10, at 8.30 o'clock at the Cavalry Church, Pittsburgh. A reception at the home of the bride will follow. Miss Clyde was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Mrs. Thomas, mother of little Miss Betty. Mrs. Eaton is a sister of Mrs. Thomas.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, the celebrated actress, will make her first appearance in Connelville in moving pictures Thursday afternoon and evening at the Colonial Theatre when her greatest moving picture success, "The Heart of Maryland," will be presented under the auspices of the Ladies' Circle No. 100, to the Grand Army of the Republic. The picture is in eight reels and is in 200 scenes, requiring 6,000 people, including 1,200 soldiers. Herbert Brenon, who produced "The Heart of Maryland," directed it. It was selected by Leo Schubert as the most appropriate production to open the New York Hippodrome. The hours are 2 and 5.45 and 7 and 9 o'clock. There will be no reserved seats. A large number of tickets have been sold and the ladies hope to realize a large amount for the benefit of the circle.

Hanns were published Sunday morning in the Immaculate Conception Church for the marriage of Miss Margaret Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Walton, and William D. Matthews, also of this city. The wedding will be a June event.

The Young Ladies' Mission Guild of the First Baptist church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. A. H. Boyer in the Masonic Apartments, South Pittsburgh street.

A convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church will be held Thursday at Braddock. Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. E. A. Dunn are delegates; Mrs. Robert Carter and Mrs. Harry Shaffer, alternates, from the local society.

The Ladies of the Maccabees have changed their place of meeting from Odd Fellows Hall to the new Maccabees' Hall in South Pittsburgh street, and will meet on the first and third Tuesdays. The first June meeting will be held this evening.

The monthly meeting of the C. W. B. M. of the Christian Church will be held Thursday afternoon at 2.20 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. S. Stahl on South Pittsburgh street.

Shiloh Lodge No. 103 Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Odd Fellows' Hall.

The regular meeting of the Immaculate Conception Literary and Musical Club has been postponed until Friday, June 11. This will be an open meeting and all members of the congregation who are not members of the club are invited to join. A very pleasing literary and musical program is being arranged.

Miss Alma B. Doshaw and H. E. Lowery of South Connelville, a former Baltimore & Ohio brakeman, were married Saturday night by Rev. W. J. Everhart, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church. The bride formerly clerked at William Hertzberg's store. Mr. Lowery is employed by the Connelville Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio.

FOR A LITTLE GIRL OF SIX.

A quaint little poke shape of the old-fashioned leghorn has been simply trimmed to produce this bewitching little bonnet for a child of six. The only trimming for this is black velvet ribbon, used as a band about the hat, passing under the chin to be tied with loops and ends at the left side. Bunches of arbutus with feathery fringe trim the outside of the hat and one little bunch is tucked under the brim against the hair on the left.

RHEUMATISM IN ANKLES

One Bottle of Rheuma Relieved Woman Who Could Not Walk.

Marvelous as this story may seem, it is absolutely true, but this is only one of the many almost magical cures that Rheuma is performing these days. Use of one bottle will convince any sufferer.

Miss Gertrude Kozel, Smithfield, Pa., writes: "I had rheumatism for over a year; it settled in my ankles and I could not walk. I have taken one bottle of Rheuma and do not have any more pain, and I can again walk at will."

A. A. Clark and all druggists sell Rheuma for 50 cents. It is guaranteed to cure any case of any kind of rheumatism or nerve back. Gratifying relief comes in a day, because Rheuma acts at one time on the kidneys, stomach, liver and blood, and starts to rid the entire system of poisonous uric acid at once.—Adv.

DAWSON CARD PARTY

Eight Tables at Newly Appointed Social Event.

Misses Edith and Ethel Palmer, Misses Melissa and Lucille Gibson and Miss Nettie Smith entertained at a well appointed five hundred card party held at the home of Miss Smith in Dawson.

Eight tables were called into play and appointments suggestive of Memorial Day were artistically carried out in the decorations and luncheon. The porch and lawn were illuminated with Japanese lanterns, while red and white streamers and flags were strung in all the rooms. The favors were small red silk flags. Out of town guests were Miss Annanda Strickler, Miss Nettie Gillespie, Miss Nellie Dunley and Nelson Moore of Vancouver, British Columbia, and William Myers of Connelville.

AQUITANIA ON ROCKS

Lapland Passengers Say the Steamer is Aground.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Passengers on the steamship Lapland, in yesterday from Liverpool, said they had seen the Curator liner Aquitania, the largest British ship ever launched, which was commanded early in the war for use as a transport, on the rocks in the Mersey.

At the offices of the Conard Line here today it was said that no information had been received of any mishap of the Aquitania. The passengers said they had been told that the Aquitania left Liverpool May 19 or 20, carrying troops to take part in the campaign in the Dardanelles. The troops were taken off, they said, and the work of lightening the cargo was then begun.

SEEK DOUBLE EMBARGO.

Would Keep Arms Out and Food In.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 1.—An embargo against exports of arms to Mexico and against exports of foodstuffs from Mexico was proposed today to President Wilson by Miss Mabel Boardman of the executive committee of the American Red Cross.

Reports to the Red Cross and the State Department indicate that in the presence of famine foodstuffs are being shipped out of Mexico to the United States, Cuba and elsewhere and in the United States is being sold cheaper than over the Mexican line.

Schools to Close. The Dunbar township high school will close Wednesday, June 3, and on Friday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock the annual class play will be held in the new high school auditorium at Leisening. Thursday evening, June 10, the commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium.

Oppose Church Union. Without a dissenting voice, the general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, in session in Loveland, Col., went on record yesterday morning as opposed to taking any immediate steps for entering a union with other denominations.

Fights During Festival. While viewing the second annual festival on the high school lawn last evening, Mrs. James Rowen, of East Main street, fainted. She was taken to the high school building and after reviving was removed to her home.

Will Be Operated On. Mrs. Charles C. Gray of South Pittsburgh street, accompanied by her husband and family physician, went to St. Joseph's Hospital, Pittsburgh, this morning to undergo an operation for gall stones tomorrow morning.

Auto Club Meeting. A meeting of the road committee and board of governors of the Automobile Club will be held tomorrow evening at the Connelville Garage to settle up business relative to "Good Roads" day.

Festival Profitable. The Davidson baseball team realized about $80 from the festival held yesterday.

The Grim Reaper

EDWARD C. MOORE.

Edward C. Moore, 27 years old, died this morning about 3 o'clock at his home, No. 203 West Fayette street, following a several days' illness. Decennial was a son of William Moore, deceased, and Mrs. Jane Moore and was well known. For the past 12 years he was a clerk for P. T. Adams, the wholesale produce merchant, and up until last Friday night was apparently in good health. He had spent the greater part of his life in Connelville and was unmarried.

His father, who at the time of his death was general yardmaster for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was thrown over a stone wall where the Adams Annex now stands, by a negro, and killed. In addition to his mother he is survived by three brothers, Charles, Harry and Walter Moore, and three sisters, Mabel, Josephine and Elizabeth Moore at home, and Mrs. James Forewalt, of Scotland.

JOHN STANISLAW. John Stanislaw, one of the best known foreigners of this section, died yesterday morning at his home in Uniontown. Mr. Stanislaw had been a resident of Uniontown for 28 years, and was in the butcher and grocery business. He was president of the Greek Catholic Church of Uniontown for the past 15 years and prominent in the National Slavonic Union.

A. H. S. HYATT. The funeral of A. H. Seymour Hyatt will take place from the family residence in Lincoln avenue, Pittsburgh, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

DE PALMA WINS RACE. Victor Travels at Average Speed of 80 Miles an Hour.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1.—Ralph De Palma won the fifth annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes on the Indianapolis motor speedway here yesterday in 5 hours, 22 minutes and 55.1 seconds. The victor traveled at an average speed of 89.84 miles an hour and broke the record for the race established in 1914 by Rene Thomas, who finished in six hours, three minutes and 15.5 seconds.

Barrio Renta, who finished second, contained every mile of the way with the winner and the battle of the contest. Renta never quit trying to beat off De Palma and he finished only four minutes and 15.5 seconds behind the victor. Renta's time was five hours, 27 minutes and 31.24 seconds. Gil Anderson was third and completed the race in five hours, 42 minutes and 27.7 seconds. Out of 25 cars that started, 11 finished, of which 10 received prize money.

Camping Club to Meet. The West Side Camping Club will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at the West Side Hotel to make arrangements for their annual outing. All members will be present.

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914.—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go amongst people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned."—(Signed) Mrs. C. C. Robb, Weatherford, Okla.

The Resinol treatment specially heals eczema, rash, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disgusting pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.

NEW BAGGAGE REGULATION

Passengers Must Make Declaration of Its Value.

New regulations requiring the declaration of the value of baggage will become effective June 2 instead of June 3. The following summary of the requirements is furnished by a general passenger representative of one of the lines affected.

"Commencing next Wednesday, the Cummins amendment of the act to regulate commerce in interstate shipments, will become effective on all railroads in this territory, and one of the principal features which the general traveler will notice will be the new regulation regarding checking of baggage."

"Hereafter the passenger will be required to sign a declaration of value of his baggage before it will be accepted for interstate journey. This declaration will state that the baggage is valued at an amount designated by the passenger. Provided it weighs within the free allowance limit, 100 pounds, and is in accord with the fundamental baggage rules as to what constitutes baggage, if a value of $100 or less is placed on it, no charge will be made, but if the traveler values his possessions at more than $100 a charge of 10 cents for each additional $100 of value or fraction thereof will be made."

"The convention opened this morning and the delegates were welcomed by H. K. Curtis, president of the company. It is expected that Governor Brumbaugh will be one of the speakers."

HARRISBURG MAN
IS NOW HAPPY

I. E. Beckwith Says Wonderful Remedy Gave Him Great Help.

I. E. Beckwith of Harrisburg, Penna., was a victim of disorders of the stomach and intestinal tract. He tried treatment after treatment. Nothing gave him relief.

Then one day he discovered Mayr's Wonderful Remedy—and soon was happy.

Mr. Beckwith wrote to Geo. H.
Mayr, the maker of the remedy and for twenty years the leading druggist of Chicago.

"I believe that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is the greatest stomach remedy on earth. One dose would convince any one who is troubled with his stomach of its wonderful merits.
It removed some of the most awful looking stuff from my stomach. I have taken other remedies, but they never helped me."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

COKE REGION CAPACITY.

Commenting editorially on the iron trade situation as revealed by its own reports of furnace operations and the report of The Weekly Courier as to the operations of the Conneltsville coke region, the Cleveland Daily Iron Trade says:

"The Conneltsville furnace coke market is just as slow as the pig iron and the Lake Superior iron trades. It has been years since the close relationship between these three branches of the general iron and steel trade has been shown so clearly. On the other hand, the quickening of the finished steel trade, while it has been gradual yet it has been steady, has resulted in more steel works blast furnaces being relighted and in an increasing number of Conneltsville coke ovens owned by the steel works being added to the active list. In other words, while the general finished steel market has been gaining since the first of the year, the merchant pig iron market and its tributaries have not gained relatively anywhere nearly as fast. At that, the Conneltsville coke production has passed the 200,000-ton weekly mark, and the prospects are exceedingly bright for that rate of output being maintained, because steel works ovens are being lighted in steadily increasing numbers, something like 1,000 Pritch ovens being on the list. Some talk is heard of a possible labor shortage in the coke regions later in the year resulting from foreign laborers being recalled to the colors in their native land. However, this need not affect coke production as much as some fear because a number of plants are working short time as it is, and the same number of men can expand this even capacity simply by working the entire week instead of a portion of it. Too, machinery is more largely used in the coke regions than formerly; hence a few men comparatively today are able to do the work of several times their number formerly.

"The pig iron market is not showing any distinctive signs at this time. Shipments on the heavy loadings previously made are going forward from stacks at all leading producing centers in fairly satisfactory numbers. At least no complaint has been heard on that score. In the central west some talk is heard of the likelihood of several merchant stacks being relighted within the next month, but from the east come rumors that a few steel works now operating may be hunked for a time. New iron buying in most all directions is slow and confined largely to small lots showing that most makers either are content with the larger portions of their needs, or those not covered are buying from hand to mouth. This is not an unsatisfactory condition of the market because, in case trade should quicken suddenly, all these close buyers may hurry into the market in a body, and this makes for a rapid market, a characteristic especially of the pig iron trade.

"The report of the operation of the Conneltsville coke region for the week ending May 29th showed that the active ovens of both the furnace and merchant interest were being operated close to capacity. The former ran six days with the single exception of one blast which was out for one day. The putting in of 1,000 additional furnace ovens it is understood that the running time may be curtailed to five days, but the difference between operating five days and six days is not as great as it looks. Theoretically it is a reduction of about 17.5 percent, or 10 percent. Five day runs means heavier charges. The difference in wages is practically proportionate. The miner is paid for all the coal he mines and the coke drawer is paid on the basis of the coal charged, so that the equities are preserved. Most other labor is paid by the month. The policy of operating a large number of ovens on short time is prompted either by a desire to give employment to as many old employees as possible during times of stress or by a desire to maintain a large labor organization in anticipation of an early demand for its services. It is fairly both considerations enter into the matter. The Conneltsville operators almost without exception believe that they face a probable increased demand for coke in the near future of the month. The interesting themselves in the labor problem which it is conceded may under certain circumstances become serious. There is no doubt, however, plenty of labor in the region, and the demand for coke will have to increase materially before the labor situation becomes troublesome. Merchant operators are not so disturbed about this prospect at the furnace interest. A short supply of coke will mean better prices for merchant operators, but it will mean nothing but trouble to the furnace operators who are not interested in coke prices as much as they are in coke production.

DEMOCRATIC REFERENDUM.

The Democratic State Committee has sent out a circular to the county Chairmen designed to further the movement for the renomination of President Wilson. Among the numerous questions asked are several designed to know how business conditions are, whether they are improving and to what causes the people ascribe the business depression.

It will be interesting to read Chairman Sterling's answer. In Fayette county, his personal organs have insisted that there is no business depression, and never has been any, under the wise and brilliant rule of The New Freedom.

The circular letter also desires to know what the feelings of the people are toward the Democratic administration. If this question is frankly answered it should be suppressed out of deference to the President.

The Conneltsville News says President Wilson will be renominated and "his triumphant election will be the country's recognition of faithful service." President Wilson's services have undoubtedly been faithful, but they have not always been wise, and the people are wise to the fact. They can feel it in their pockets.

There will be no triumph for this kind of faithful service.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT.

Untowners elect city officers this fall and enter upon city government the first day of January, 1916. Under the decision of Judge Van Swearingen the citizens will vote a partisan ballot notwithstanding the law which provides that elections in third class cities shall be non-partisan ballot.

While the matter seems not to have been touched upon in the Conneltsville case the question might be asked that Conneltsville is still a borough and remains so until January 1st, 1916; therefore, the election of 1915 must necessarily be held under the borough laws.

This interpretation is not so strained as it may seem. Lots of worse logic is good common law.

The Courier congratulates the city authorities upon their action in roping off the streets around the school grounds last night on the occasion of the children's celebration. The same action ought to be taken every time there is a band concert, not only because of the selfish conduct of automobiles and horse vehicles owners in monopolizing the space, but also because of the danger to the crowds of reckless driving through them.

The Western Maryland threatens a passenger rate war. This is getting back to first principles with a vengeance.

It would be a good thing if the Memorial Day custom of remembering to include the memories of all loved ones who have gone, and it is gratifying to observe that in Conneltsville and elsewhere that custom is growing.

Hon. Bill Hohenzollern is some diplomat himself.

When the lights go out in Conneltsville they go out all over the coke region, yet some people sometimes quarrel the claim that Conneltsville is the center of the coke region to which it has given a name.

Welcome June, the bridal month.

Some intelligent Untowners papers now talk about Fayette county coke, and every intelligent coke maker in Fayette county advertises his product as Conneltsville coke.

The best show in Conneltsville last night was free, but it would have drawn a big house at the usual rates. Conneltsville capitalists who shifted their real estate investments from Baltimore to Washington made the right shift. Baltimore real estate may be all right, but Washington real estate is seldom wrong. In which respect it closely resembles the Conneltsville capitalists.

The Pure Food Department at Harrisburg has issued a warning to persons and collected $225,000 in fines last year. This is good work for good food, but it has sometimes borne heavily upon innocent dealers.

The cemetery never looked better thanks to the clean-up spirit which has been aroused.

Old Glory was out in Conneltsville yesterday in greater force than ever before thanks to the patriotism of the people and the opportunity afforded by The Courier to obtain a flag at a price within reach of everybody.

The Suffragist debaters are off in line style. As a rule women can be depended upon to do their share of talking.

J. Pluvius stayed off the job yesterday. He ought to have been given a vote of thanks.

The Sons of Veterans were a prominent feature of the Memorial Day parade. They were all old enough to march.

German submarines have sunk six British ships in three days in the war zone. No wonder the German Government hesitates to give up the submarine method of warfare on the demand of a foreign power.

Larsen's Peak, in California, continues to discharge large quantities of mud. But it hasn't got anything on O'Donnell's Peak, in Untowners.

Mild wars and rumors of wars baseball news sit on the bleachers.

Can a bad man make a good officer? It is a question which a man without morals successfully answers to the public mind? The answer is, he can, but will he?

Yankee invention claims to have put the German gas bombs on the bum.

Judge Reppert assumes his duties this week. The duties of the Fayette county bench are not new to him. As a judge he is the real goods.

Roses

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Slaves."

About this time of the year the rose comes into bloom. The thorny vine and begins to gladden the heart of the poet, the lover, the gardener, the slug, the ant, the lady-bug, and the starving worm.

Roses are one of the most important parts of June. If it were not for roses and Commemorative and Victory June would be no better than May or July. But in June ten million roses unfold in the warm air and enter the nostrils of the citizen has infused their fragrance on the way home, he buys a bouquet for his wife for the first time in two years and stops thinking about business for a few minutes.

The rose is one of the most beautiful things that Nature has created. It grows cheerfully and enthusiastically in the back yards of American homes among old fashioned roses and modern ones. It flourishes among the children on the railroad rights of way and elms on the corner of the washerwoman. It is as easy to grow as the daisy. The rose is no exclusive flower. It does not hide in front of the archway. It grows cheerfully and enthusiastically in the back yards of American homes among old fashioned roses and modern ones. It flourishes among the children on the railroad rights of way and elms on the corner of the washerwoman. It is as easy to grow as the burdock and the great profit of the beauty is the fact that in spite of its cheapness and its willingness to grow, it is not called a weed and cut out with a hoe.

Practical men seek at roses and do not see why time should be wasted upon them. Yet these same practical men, when they have worked themselves into a state of bilious ruin, climb aboard a ship and go to England where they wander under country roads, past cottages, each of which is framed in roses, and they pay big prices for the privilege. When a country spends enough money in training roses over its gates and walls it becomes very difficult to keep the tourist away, and people are continually pestered with delighted strangers who wish to buy their house wren from them and sit among the roses which they have been too lazy to plant at home.

To plant a rose bush is to perform an act of simple kindness to thousands of eyes. We are not kind enough to our poor old eyes in America. We fill our eyes full of sweet, molasses and tell our eyes to get along and pick up what pleasure they can from a cigarette advertisement on a bill board.

SCOTSDALE HAS A QUIET OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY

Unusually Long Parade, With Two Bands and Drum Corps.

REV. I. E. RUNK MAKES ADDRESS

Annual Class Day Exercises of High School to be Held in Opera House Wednesday Afternoon at 2:30; Commencement Thursday Evening.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, June 1.—Monday which was observed as Memorial Day drew a large throng of people to the cemetery than any previous celebration of this kind in this place. The procession, which left Chestnut and Pittsburg streets at 9:30 was an extraordinarily long one for Scottdale. Headed by the Grand Army band, the procession included about a score of Civil War veterans, a number of Sons of Veterans and Scottish-American War veterans. Beside the Grand Army band there was the Evergreen band, the Kinross drum corps and the volunteer firemen. The parade set through of school children yet in a parade here. School was called and then dismissed in order to place as many children in the parade as possible, and teach them something of the significance of the day. At the Scottdale cemetery, E. M. Stantz read the solemn and beautiful ritual over the graves. The Sons of Veterans filed the salute. Dr. E. L. Runk, pastor of the United Brethren Church, gave a splendid patriotic address, and Elmer Morrow sang a solo. From the Scottdale cemetery the parade entered the St. John's cemetery where the comrades' graves were decorated.

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Slough and Miss Minnie Pyle spent Memorial Day on a trip to the historic White House in Fayette county.

Miss Nellie Wooley is visiting friends in Indiana.

Miss Edna Shultz has returned from Pleasant Unity, where she had been called on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Mr. Howard Williams, a senior at Waynesburg College, spent Monday visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Williams of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Baker spent Memorial Day at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lehigh of Wesley Chapel.

Willie K. Brunka spent Memorial Day with relatives at Mill Run.

Miss Anna Krohn was a visitor with friends at Jones Mill on Monday.

Assistant Postmaster D. A. Hricke and Rural Carrier Walter Potts made a visit to Pittsburgh in the latter's car Monday.

Torrence Overholt, Frank Hill and Thomas Quinn have returned from an automobile trip to Cleveland.

A crowd of members of the different classes of the high school made a picnic to the Oro Mines on Memorial Day.

CLASS DAY. The annual class day exercises of the Scottdale high school will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Scottdale Theatre at 2:30 o'clock. On Thursday evening the commencement exercises will be held. The annual reception follows commencement. The annual alumni dance will be held in New Field Hall Friday evening.

PERKINSVILLE. MAY 31.—Memorial Day services were held in Meyersdale today and were largely attended.

At 10 A. M. the procession formed and marched to the Reformed and Catholic cemeteries and decorated the graves and also held short services. At 1:30 P. M. the procession formed and marched to the Union Cemetery where the principal services of the day were held. After the decorating of graves and a short service by the G. A. R., a group of men, women and children were present.

Miss Ella Hradek and niece, Marie Gentry of Lewisburg, Pa., spent yesterday and today as guests of Rev. J. J. Brady.

The Amity Reformed Church was crowded on Sunday evening when Rev. A. E. Brown, D. D., delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates.

RASH ON SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

Scatched and Irritated. Lost Much Sleep. Dandruff Scaled Off So Could Be Seen Plainly. Hair Fell Out. Lost Hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

1200 S. 5th St., Philadelphia, Pa.—"About eighteen months ago I began to notice the falling out of my hair and scales covering my scalp. A few months later there appeared a form of redness on my scalp. It became worse and worse until it itched and burned so much that I scratched and irritated it. The itching became unbearable and at times I lost much sleep. The dandruff scaled off so it could be seen plainly and my hair fell so fast that I had to do something. I had lost half of it."

"I used treatments for about three months without any relief. Then I was recommended by a friend to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using only one week I noticed a wonderful change. In about seven weeks my scalp was entirely sane. Cuticura healed me!" (Signed) David Lohr, August 3, 1914.

Mrs. Jonathan Rankin of Burgettstown, is the guest of town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Henson and daughter spent yesterday with Miss Cynthia Reed.

DICKERSON RUN. DICKERSON RUN, June 1.—Everything passed off very quietly here Memorial Day. The weather looked threatening for some time, but about noon it cleared up and it could not have been more favorable for the different exercises. It had been announced that the parade would form on the Dawson bridge at 9:30 and pass through Dickerson Run, Liberty and Vanderhill, then to the cemetery, but after forming in line at the bridge the parade made a bee-line for the Y. M. C. A. Building. After getting to the old soldiers' home into automobiles which were loaded down with flowers to be strewn over the graves of their comrades at the Dickerson Run cemetery they were halted at the Y. M. C. A., not only stopping the old men in blue, but hundreds of others who were watching along the way from Dawson to Vanderhill for the parade, which about 500 who had assembled at the cemetery to hear the speaking.

The band furnished some very fine music and the speaking was good. Everything went off as arranged after getting located at the top of the hill.

The baseball game in the afternoon between the Athletics and the Y. M. C. A. which went 10 innings, was tucked away by the Athletics, 7 to 6. The feature of the game was a double play by Jones, unassisted.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray and children of Elm Grove are spending a few days here visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Litt.

Joseph McCracken of Whitest spent Memorial Day here the guest of his son, Newton McCracken.

Mrs. Mary Duffy returned to her home at Scottdale last evening after spending a week here with her grand-daughter, Mrs. James Heagy.

Mrs. W. J. McCormick and son returned home last evening after visiting relatives at Scottdale.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Green and daughter of Vanderhill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Monday.

Read the advertisements today. Mrs. Anna Moran and daughter, Mrs. Walter David of Scottdale, spent Monday with Mrs. James Heagy.

Dawson Arnold of Buena Vista was a business caller here Monday. Louis Viscio of Pittsburg was here yesterday calling on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Livingston of Lower Tyrone township were the guests of friends here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welling of Dunbar returned home last evening after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. James Welling.

Ira Risor of Dunbar was visiting relatives and friends here last evening.

The Tooth Brush

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., L. D., Commissioner of Health.

We have been taught that the tooth brush should be as indispensable from youth to old age as a man's shadow. Indeed the latter might be dispensed with without jeopardizing one's position in polite society.

The primary purpose of the tooth brush is excellent, but it is well remembered that as it is intended to clean the instrument itself should be beyond suspicion in this regard. The majority of disease germs find their way into the human system through the mucous membrane of the nose and mouth.

If the teeth are not frequently and properly cleaned, these germs or bacteria will multiply in cavities or where particles of food have become lodged between the teeth. These minute germ breeding centers should be removed by vigorous brushing but when the desired result is accomplished care should be taken that they do not turn loose in the intricacies of the tooth brush. If they remain there they are later transferred to the mouth.

To guard against this the brush should be thoroughly cleaned before and after using in scalding water if this is obtainable. If not in some non-poisonous antiseptic wash. At least wash the brush with soap and water and rinse thoroughly.

Care should be taken not to keep a tooth brush where it is exposed to dust and dirt. If there are several members of the family the same receptacle should not be used for the brushes as the germs of disease may readily be transmitted from one brush to another in this manner.

It is well to make use of white thread or dental floss to remove particles from between the teeth which are difficult to remove with the brush. It is from fragments of food that lodge between the teeth that decay often starts.

When you visit the dentist you expect and demand exceptional cleanliness in the care of his instruments. See that your own dental utensils are immaculate.

THE SOISSON

"THE FRANK CASE" TODAY. The famous Leo Frank Case, that has occupied the courts for some time is the basis for a live reel drama that will be shown at the Soisson Theatre today. It is a thrilling story. King Hagger and June Gail are costars in the three reel imp drama, "The Frank Case." The Nostalgia comedy, "Following Father's Footsteps," is an important comedy. HOW TO ERADICATE ALL SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Specialist's Advice to Ladies.

The best means I have ever found for removing all signs of disfiguring growth of hair on the face, neck, arms, or hands is a new preparation called Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. I have recommended it in thousands of cases and I know personally of its ability to banish every hair forever. It cannot injure the skin or complexion and is quite inexpensive. You can get Mrs. Osgood's Wonder from Laughrey Drug Co., or any up-to-date druggist. Shined money-back guarantee with every package. Do not apply this treatment except where total destruction of hair is desired.

CONFLUENCE. CONFLUENCE, June 1.—Prof. C. B. Crichton of Pittsburgh has returned home after spending a few days here with his parents.

A large delegation from this place visited Ohio Valley yesterday.

Rev. E. B. Hooper, of Erie, Pa., Park Hender, Elizabeth Hender and Mabel Shipley have returned from a several days visit at Washington, D. C.

The FORESTERS DAUGHTER

BEAR TOOTH
RANGE
By HAMLIN GARLAND

Copyright, 1914, by Hamlin Garland.

This dislike Berrie perceived in some degree, and to Frank she privately said: "Now, you fellows have got to treat Mr. Norcross right. He's been very nice."

Frank maliciously grinned. "Oh, we'll treat him right. We won't do a thing to him."

"Now, Frank," she warned, "if you try any of your tricks on him you'll hear from me."

"Why all this worry on your part?" he asked lightly. "How long since you found him?"

The girl herself did not understand the vital and almost painful interest which this young man had roused in her. He was both child and poet to her, and as she watched him trying to make friends with the men, her indignation rose against their cynical selfishness.

"I don't feel right in leaving you here," she said at last, "but I must go. And while Meeker ordered her horse brought out she walked to the gate with Norcross at her side."

"I'm tremendously obliged to you," he said, and his voice was vibrant. "You have been most kind. How can I repay you?"

"Oh, that's all right," she replied, in true western fashion. "I wanted to see the folks up here, anyhow. This is no joint at all for me." And, looking at her powerful figure and feeling the fragile grip of her clutch hand, he knew she spoke the truth.

And so she rode away, leaving her ward to adjust himself to his new and strange surroundings as best he could, and with her going the whole valley darkened for the countess.

It was soon apparent to the eastern observer that the entire male population for thirty miles around not only knew McFarlane's girl, but that every unmarried man and some who were both husbands and fathers kept a deeply interested eye upon her daily motion, and certain shameless ones openly boasted among their fellows of their intention to win her favor, while the shy ones revelled in secret exultation over every chance meeting with her. She was the topic of every lumber camp and the shining lure of every dance to which the ranch hands often rode over long and lonely trails.

Part of this intense interest was due, naturally, to the scarcity of desirable women, but a larger part was called out by Berrie's frank freedom of manner. Her ready camaraderie was taken for carelessness, and the casual grip of her hand was often misunderstood, and yet most of the men respected her, and some feared her. After her narrow escape from Clifford Belden they all kept aloof, for he was hot tempered and formidable as well as avenge an insult.

At the end of a week Norcross found himself restless and discontented with the McFarlane. He was tired of feeling that of the old man's endless arguments and tired of the vulgar cowboys. The men around the mill did not interest him, and their Saturday night spree at the saloon disgusted him. The one person who pleased his curiosity was Landon, the ranger, who was stationed not far away and who could be seen occasionally riding by on a handsome black horse. There was something in his bearing, in his neat and serviceable dress uniform, which attracted the countess, and on Sunday morning he decided to venture a call, although Frank Meeker had said the ranger was a "crouch."

His cabin, a neat log structure, stood just above the ground on a huge natural terrace of gray bowlders, and the flag which fluttered from a tall staff before it could be seen for several miles, the bright sign of federal control, the symbol of law and order, just as the saloon and the mill were signs of lawless vice and destructive greed. Around the door flowers bloomed and kettles played.

The cabin's interior pleased Wayland almost as much as the garden. It was built of pine logs neatly matched and leaved on one side.

The ranger, spurred and belted, with his cuffs turned back, was pounding the typewriter when Wayland appeared at the open door, but he rose with grave courtesy. "Come in," he said, and his voice had a pleasant inflection.

"I'm interrupting."

"Nothing serious, just a letter. There's no hurry. I'm always glad of an excuse to rest from this job." He was at once keenly interested in his visitor, for he perceived in him the gentleman and, of course, the alien.

Wayland, with something of the feeling of a civilian reporting to an officer, explained his presence in the neighborhood.

"I've heard of you," responded the ranger, "and I've been helping you."

look in on me. The supervisor's daughter has just written me to look after you. She said you were not very well."

Again Wayland protested that he was not a consumptive, only a student who needed mountain air, but he added, "It is very kind of Miss McFarlane to think of me."

"Oh, she thinks of everybody," the young fellow declared. "She's one of the most unselfish creatures in the world."

Something in the tone of this speech, and something in the look of the ranger's eyes, caused Wayland to wonder if there were not still another of Berrie's subjects. He became certain of it as the young officer went on, with pleasing frankness, and it was not long before he had conveyed to Wayland his cause for sadness. "She's engaged to a man that is not her equal, in a certain sense no man is her equal, but Belden is a pretty hard type, and I believe, although I can't prove it, that he is part owner of the saloon over there."

"How does that saloon happen to be here?"

"It's on patented land—a so called 'placer claim'—experts have reported against it, but nothing is done. The mill is also on patented land, and together they are a plague spot. I'm their enemy, and they know it, and they're threatened to burn me out. Of course they won't do that, but they're ready to play any kind of trick on me."

"I can well believe that, for I am getting my share of practical jokes at Meeker's."

"They're not a bad lot over there—only just rowdy. I suppose they're hating you," said Landon.

"I didn't come out here to be a cowboy," responded Norcross, "but Frank Meeker seems to be anxious to show me all the good old cowboy courtesies. On Monday he slipped a burr under my horse's saddle, and I came near having my neck broken. Then he or some one else concealed a fire in my bed and fooled my hair brushes. In fact, I go to sleep each night in expectation of some new attack, but the air and the riding are doing me a great deal of good, and so I stay."

Thereafter Wayland spent nearly every day with the ranger, either in his cabin or riding the trail, and during these hours confidence grew until at last Landon confessed that his unrest arose from his rejection by Berrie.

"She was not to blame. She's so kind and free with every one I thought I had a chance. I was contented enough to feel sorry for the other fellows, and now I can't even feel sorry for myself. I'm just dazed and hanging to the ropes. She was mighty gentle about it. You know how sunny her face is. Well, she just got away and kind of faintly voiced and said—'Oh, you know what she said! She let me know there was another man. I didn't ask her who, and when I found out I lost my grip entirely. At first I thought I'd resign and get out of the country, but I couldn't do it. I can't yet. The chance of seeing her—of hearing you her own in awhile—she gave me more courage than I needed for her father, but you'll laugh—I can't see her signature without a tremor.' He smiled, but his eyes were desperately sad. 'Oh, I'm crazy! I admit it. I didn't know such a thing could happen to me, but it has.'"

As Wayland listened to this outpouring he wondered at the intensity of the forester's passion. He remembered, too, at Berrie's choice, for there was something fine and high in Landon's worship. A college man with a mining engineer's training, he should go high in the service. "He undo the mistake of being too precipitate as a lover," concluded Wayland. "His forthright courtship repelled her."

CHAPTER IV.

A Warning.

MEANWHILE his own troubles increased. Frank's dislike had grown to an open hostility, and if the old man Meeker had any knowledge of his son's devilities he gave no sign.

"I don't know why I stay," Wayland wrote to Berrie. "I'm disgusted with the men up here—they're all three, some except Landon. I hate to sink away, and besides, the country is glorious. I'd like to come down and see you this week. May I do so?"

Please send word that I may."

She did not reply, and, wondering whether she had received his letter or not, he mounted his horse one beautiful morning and rode away up the trail with a sense of elation, of eager joy, with intent to call upon her at the ranch as he went by.

Hardly had he vanished among the pines when Clifford Belden rode in from his ranch on flat creek and called at Meeker's for his mail.

Frank Meeker was in the office, and as the both entered and disliked this big contemptuous young cattlemen he set to work to make him jealous.

"You want to watch this one lung boarder of ours," he warned, with a grin. "He's been writing to Berrie, and he's just gone down to see her. His highfalutin ways and his fine white hands have put her on the slant."

"I'm not worrying," retorted Belden. "You'd better be. I was down there the other day, and it 'peared like she couldn't talk of anything else but Mr. Norcross, Mr. Norcross, till I was sick of his name."

An hour later Belden left the mill and set off up the trail behind Norcross, his face fallen into stern lines. Frank watched in delight. "There goes Cliff, hot under the collar, chasing Norcross. If he finds out that Berrie is interested in him he'll just about wring that dude's neck."

Meanwhile Wayland was riding through the pines with lightning heart, his thought dwelling on the girl at the end of his journey.

As he reached the McFarlane ranch it seemed deserted of men, but a faint column of smoke rising from the roof of the kitchen gave evidence of a cook, and at his knee Berrie came to the door with a boyish word of frank surprise and pleasure.

She was dressed in a blue and white calico gown, with the collar turned in and the sleeves rolled up, but she seemed quite unbarrassed, and her pleasure in his coming quite repaid him for his long and tiresome ride.

"I've been wondering about you," she said. "I'm mighty glad to see you. How do you stand it?"

"I did, and I was going to write and tell you to come down, but I've had some special work to do at the office."

He took the horse's rein from him, and together they started toward the stables.

This action of stabling the horses, a perfectly innocent and natural one for her, led one of the hands, a coarse minded sneak, to watch them from a corral. "I wonder how Cliff would like that?" he evilly remarked.

Berrie was frankly pleased to see Wayland and spoke of the improvement which had taken place in him. "You're looking fine," she said as they were returning to the house. "But how do you get on with the boys?"

"Not very well," he admitted. "They seem to have it in for me. It's a constant fight."

Her face grew grave. "I reckon you got started wrong," she said at last. "They'll like you better when you get browned up and your clothes get dirty. You're a little too fancy for them just now."

"I don't believe I want any more of their company. What's the use? As you say, I've started wrong with them, and I don't see any prospect of getting right; and, besides, I like the rangers better. Landon thinks I might work into the service. I wonder if I could? It would give me something to do."

She considered a moment. "We'll think about that. Come into the kitchen. I'm cook today. Mother's gone to town."

"The kitchen was clean and ample, and the delicious odor of new made bread filled it with cheer. As the girl resumed her apron Wayland settled into a chair with a sigh of content."

"I like this," he said aloud. "There's nothing compared about you now; you're the Anglo-Saxon housewife. You might be a Michigan or Connecticut girl at this moment."

Her cheeks were ruddy with the heat and her eyes intent on her work, but she caught enough of his meaning to be pleased with it. "Oh, I have to take a hand at the pots and pans now and then. I can't give all my time to the service, but I'd like to."

He boldly announced his errand. "I wish you'd take me to board. I'm sure your cooking would build up my shattered system a good deal quicker than your aunt's."

She laughed, but shook her head. "You ought to be on the hills riding hard every day. What you need is the high country and the air of the place."

She had read that victims of the white plague always talk in this cheerful way about themselves, and she worked on without replying.

"If I were here—in the valley—you and I could ride together now and then, and you could show me all the trails. Why not let me come here and board? I'm going to ask your mother if I may not do so."

"Of course you can come here," she said when she saw he was in earnest. "Mother will be glad to have you, although our ranch isn't a bit pretty. Perhaps father will send you out with one of the rangers as a freeguard. I'll ask him tonight."

"I wish you would. I like these foresters—what I've seen of them. I wouldn't mind serving under a man like Landon. He's fine."

Upon this pleasant conference Cliff Belden unexpectedly burst. Pushing the door open with a slam, he confronted Berrie with dark and angry face.

"Why, Cliff, where did you come from?" she asked, rising in some confusion. "I didn't hear you ride up."

"Apparently not," he sneeringly answered. "I reckon you were too much occupied."

NO MORE FIGHTS TO BE STAGED IN CITY; KAISER BEATS GREB

Lack of Patronage Causes Stevens to Give Up Shows Here.

WILL TRY AT CUMBERLAND

Notwithstanding Small Crowd, Good Program of Fights But the "Comp" Holders Tell "Fisk" Greb Beats Arm But Gaily Says Six Rounds.

There will be no more boxing shows in Connellsville; at least Promoter Jack Stevens announces that he is through with the town after facing another defeat as a result of the fight last night. A good-sized crowd was present, but the house was largely "empty," leaving Jack in a hole for a considerable sum. He declared today that he will move on to Cumberland where he has leased a hall and will stage such bouts as he has been putting on here, with the assurance that patronage will be better. Eddie Winkler and Johnny Ray will meet there on June 9.

Fay Kaiser and Harry Greb fought six rounds as the windup of last night's show. Greb came to Connellsville with a bad arm and in the first round broke it. The first three rounds were slow on this account. Kaiser had no desire of taking advantage of his game opponent, who was thus disabled. Some of the holders of "comp" tickets yelled "fake" and in the last three rounds the boys were allowed to greater efforts, though every blow caused Greb excruciating pain. The bout was Kaiser's according to popular decision.

In the semi-windup, Jake Morris of Smithfield fought two rounds with Terrell Duncan of Uniontown and then quit, because of illness. Morris showed good form, but was all out of condition.

Forkehop Harris of Mount Pleasant and Bill Carter of Connellsville staged a slashing four round bout in the opener.
